

The Department of Drama, Undergraduate, in the Institute of Performing Arts at Tisch School of the Arts, New York University seeks an accomplished, visionary Chair to lead our uniquely structured Bachelor of Fine Arts program beginning in Fall, 2022.

The Chair provides artistic and academic leadership for a large faculty and student body of 1500. Applicants should be highly accomplished professionals or scholars from academia, non-profit or commercial theater, who have strong administrative and teaching skills and a commitment to a diverse and well-rounded theater education. Among the Chair's primary duties will be to shape and lead the department's next stage of development in artistic and academic curricular innovation, faculty and staff development, professional local and global collaborations, diversity planning and development, facilities management and expansion, and the further enhancement of our national and international prominence. The Chair also oversees faculty recruitment and hiring. We are actively seeking applicants who have a demonstrated commitment to equity-forward leadership practices.

Application Requirements - Candidates should provide a CV and / or resume / portfolio, a one-page (500 word) personal statement, and a diversity statement. Application deadline is December 1, 2021. For more information visit: <https://apply.interfolio.com/97990>
